Interview Between Beecher and Mrs. Tilton.

Interesting Correspondence Produced in Court.

NEW YORK, March 6, 1875.

Judge Neilson's last words in the Tilton-Beecher trial yesterday were addressed to the women, advising them not to attend to-day, saying: "Friday morning and this morning I refused admission to a great number of ladies with regret. I think in some of the weeks to come there may be an opportunity, put just at present I think the ladies who are here, and for one day have seen the place, might as well be content."

As the women heard the address of the Judge they certainly did not heed it, for this morning the usual number arrived, with tickets of admission, crowded into the Court room, and as many were turned away for want of room as on any previous day. Every seat in Court was occupied long before eleven o'clock. Mrs. Beecher and her daughter, Mrs. Scoville, arrived before that hour, and were soon followed by the defendant, Mr. Beecher. The plaintiff and all his counsel were late for the first time. While waiting for the plaintiff's counsel Mr. Beecher took his place on the witness chair and glanced over his memorandum of dates and occurrences before the Court was opened.

Order Demanded.

Judge Neilson admonished the people in the gallery that unless there was perfect order the doors of the galleries would be closed in the future, and that unless the people on the floor would keep more quiet the number of chairs would be lessened. Among those present was the Rev. Dr. Henry M. Dexter, who took a prominent part in the deliberations of the Congregational Council last spring. Judge Neilson advised Mr. Morris to take out an order of reference in the matter of the examination of Henry Cleaveland, a she (Judge Neilson) was not really well enough to attend, but promized to attend this evening.

Beecher's Testimony.

Mr. Beecher then testified: When Mrs. Tilton raised the question of a separation, besides telling her to ask Mrs. Beecher for advice, I applied to Geo. A. Bell, a member of the church and a deacon, to take part. To him I stated the facts and asked what had better be done. I thought it would be in the duties of a deaconess and in the church, and that was the end of it; he said it was a case that should not be meddled with; among the earnest counselings with Moulton and myself was one with regard to how standing ground could be got for Tilton and his family settled; he said Tilton's house was mortgaged for $7,000, and he suggested that the mortgage be raised and the house settled on Mrs. Tilton. I said when this was going to be done to let me be counted in. I remember

The First Schooling Bill of Miss Bessie Turner.

I think it was in the summer of 1871; Moulton said he was paying out a great many bills for Tilton, and here was one I ought to assist in paying, or something like that. I paid this bill; Mrs. Morse had made some allusion to Bessie Turner's absence; whether for a visit or not I did not know; she was at school until I saw this account. I did not suggest sending her to school; Moulton frequently applied to me for money for these expenses. I never kept account or memorandum of these moneys, but let him have money when I could; during the payments nothing was said about Tilton's Going to Europe.

Moulton's applications to me were sometimes in writing and sometimes in person, during the dry season when I was not lecturing. In the interview of the second week of February, at Tilton's house, I cannot say that I did not express regret, and I will not say that I did not cry, as I made no record on my memory of my tears; the last thing done was to kiss each other all around, and I did not burst into tears for that.

At this there was a sally of laughter from the audience, and witness was instructed not to utter expressions of amplitude, which were not necessary in giving his testimony.

An Interview With Mrs. Tilton.

Witness then continued: Remember an interview with Mrs. Tilton in the fall of 1871.

Witness was asked what took place at this interview, but counsel on the other side objected, arguing that this interview was a year after the charges were made, and said that evidence such as this could be manufactured.

Mr. Evarts argued at some length for the admission of this testimony, as it was the only interview that occurred between the parties after the interview of December and after the strife between the parties had been published.

Judge Neilson suggested that the defendant could state what occurred without giving any conversations.

Mr. Beach argued against this, taking the ground that Tilton was absent from the interview, therefore, he thought it was not admissible. He would ask, did the Court hold that the declaration of Mrs. Tilton or Mr. Beecher, at the interview between them, when the plaintiff was not present, should be given as evidence, on what principle was it that Mr. Beecher, after the evidence given against him, should be allowed to manufacture evidence against his adversary?

Judge Neilson ruled that the witness could relate what occurred at the interview, but not the conversation.

The witness continued: This interview was in daylight on this occasion, and the subject of the interview as suggested to me—

Mr. Evarts asked witness what was the subject and what was the occasion of this interview.

Mr. Fullerton objected to this question as inadmissible under the ruling just made by the Court.

This brought on a long argument between Messrs. Evarts and Beach, when Judge Neilson said Mr. Evarts was quite at liberty to show what did occur and what did not occur, but he could not give the narration of the conversation which took place at the interview.

Mr. Evarts continuing to argue for the admission of his question, brought forth a reply from Mr. Beecher, after which the witness testified: I went into the parlor, marked a passage in the Bible, rose, bowed and walked out; I marked the thirteenth chapter of the First Corinthians, from the fourth to the seventh verses. Witness was asked to read the passage marked.

To this Mr. Beach objected, and the Court ruled the question out.

The following are the verses referred to:

4. "Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up.
5. Doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil;
6. Rejoiceth not in iniquity, but rejoiceth in the truth;
7. Beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things."

Subsequent Meetings with Mrs. Tilton.

Witness continued: This closed the interview, with the ordinary farewells; I do not remember being in the house after that; I only recall two instances of meeting Mrs. Tilton afterwards, once at Moulton's house in November, 1872, and last summer I remember to have met her twice on the street, but do not recollect other meetings; we accosted one another and conversed on the street; in one instance I walked with her a block around Columbia Heights; another occasion I walked with her to her house, but did not go in; I do not remember meeting her at Sunday school; I did not go there except on rare occasions; at my Friday night meetings I do not recollect meeting her, but I have a faint impression that I saw her there, and may have spoken to her; I do not remember meeting her at the church on any occasion; Mrs. Tilton I never saw at my house after December, 1870.

Correspondence.

[Handed a letter.] I do not remember receiving this, but it is in Mrs. Tilton's handwriting. [Handed another letter.] I do not remember giving this letter to Moulton; it was a habit of mine to carry to Moulton all the communications which I thought would throw light on all matters of which he was man-in-charge; in this way he received this letter I suppose. [Witness read the letter through and was handed another letter.] I gave this last letter to Moulton; it is from Mrs. Tilton.

Mr. Evarts then read

The "Nest-hiding" Letter.

"BROOKLYN, May 3, 1871.—Mr. Beecher: My future, either for life or death, would be happier could I but feel that you forgave while you forget me. In all the sad complications of the past year my endeavor was to entirely keep from you all suffering, to bear myself alone, leaving you forever ignorant of it. My weapons were love, a large, untiring generosity, and nest-hiding. That I had failed utterly we both know, but now I ask your forgiveness."

Q. This word, compound word, "nest-hiding," is it a word of any use by you, or with which you were conversant? A. No, sir; it is not my word in any sense or way.

Q. Had it been a word used between you and Mrs. Tilton in any way before this letter? A. Not that ever I remember. It was certainly not a common word.

Q. What did you understand by that word when you received this?

Mr. Beach—That is objected to.

Judge Neilson—I think we'll take it, sir.

Witness—I understood—

Mr. Beach—We except, sir.

Witness—I understood it to simply signify the hiding of troubles in her household.

Recess.

After the recess the examination of Mr. Beecher was continued

Q. (Showing a letter)—Look at this, Mr. Beecher, if you please; say whether you received that letter, and if the memorandum of the date of its reception is yours? A. First I thought the memorandum of the date wasn't, but it looks like my writing when I write very poorly.

Q. Well, you think? A. I think it is, sir.

Q. And made at the time you suppose? A. I think so, sir.

Q. The note itself has no date? A. No, sir.

Mr. Evarts—Retain the letter.

Q. This date of March 8, 1871, Mr. Beecher, is the month following these February letters of 1871, isn't it? A. Yes, sir.

Q. You remember the letters of February 8th that were spoken of yesterday? A. Yes, sir.

Evarts—I will read this letter which you have before you, and ask you some questions about it.

A Joyful Letter.

"WEDNESDAY.—My Dear Friend—Does your heart bound toward all as it used? So does mine. I am myself again. I did not dare to tell you till I was sure, but the bird has sung in my heart these four weeks, and he has covenanted with me never again to leave. Spring has come. Because I thought it would gladden you to know this, and not to trouble or embarrass you in any way, I now write. Of course I should like to share with you my joy, but can wait for the beyond. When dear Frank says I may once again go to old Plymouth I will thank the dear Father."

Q. Now, Mr. Beecher, had any letter passed from you to Mrs. Tilton except that letter of the 7th of February from her prior to your receiving this letter? A. None that I know of, sir.

Q. Well, what is your impression? A. I don't think it would add any.

Q. This, then, is the first letter, as far as you know, that you received from her after your letter of this 7th of February? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Which has been given in evidence, sent through her husband? A. Yes, sir.

No Special or Covert Meaning.

Q. Now, sir, is there anything in the expression of this letter—is there anything in reference which you recognized then or now of any special or covert meaning? A. No, sir. I understood that perfectly then and do now. There had been former efforts made by Moulton, Tilton and myself to bring a more wholesome state of feeling in the household About four weeks had elapsed when I received this letter, announcing the change that had taken place. When Moulton returned from the South I took him into my library and talked about this letter, indicating existing as a result of his final clearing-up effort.

A Happy State of Things

Q. Did you make any answer to this letter? A. I don't remember that I did.

Q. This last clause of the letter, have you it before you? A. "When Frank says I can once again go to old Plymouth, I will thank the dear Father."

Q. What did you know or understand about anything between Frank and herself? A. I did not know anything about it. It was their own business. I don't recollect that it came to me at all.

Q. Except from this letter? A. Yes. I saw there was something in it. I don't know what it was.

Q. Did Moulton speak to you of that clause of the letter? I don't recollect.

A Letter of 1872.

Q. Please look at No. 13, which is a letter of yours (handing). At this passage (indicating). "I am now at home here, with my sister," does that refer to the period at which Mrs. Perkins was your housekeeper in your wife's absence? A. It does sir.

Q. Was that letter written during that period? A. Yes sir.

Q. Was it 1872 or 1873 that the letter was written? A. 1872.

Q. Mr. Beach suggests it might possibly be the end of 1871. How is that? No answer.

Q. Has this letter which I have here, any relation to that letter of Mrs. Tilton's to you of March 8th, 1871? A. No, sir; none.

Q. It is not, then, an answer to your letter? A. It is not, sir.

Mr. Evarts—Read the letter.

Beecher to Mrs. Tilton.

"The blessing of God rest upon you. Every spark of light and warmth in your own house will be a star and a sun in my dwelling. Your note broke like the spring upon winter, and gave me an onward rebound toward life. No one can ever know, none but God, through what a dreary wilderness I have wandered. There was Mount Sinai. There was the barren sand. There was the alternation of hope and despair that marked the pilgrimage of old. If only it might lead to the Promised Land, or, like Moses, shall I die on the border? Your hope and courage are like medicine. Should God inspire you to restore and rebuild at home, and while doing it to cheer and sustain outside of it another who sorely needs help in heart and spirit, it will prove a life so noble as few are able to live, and in another world the emancipated soul may utter thanks. If it would be of comfort to you now and then to send me a letter of true inwardness, the outcome of your inner life, it would be safe, for I am now at home here, with my sister, and it is permitted to you, and will be an exceeding refreshment to me, for your heart experiences are often like bread from heaven to the hungry. God has enriched your moral nature. May not others partake."

Beecher's Object.

Q. To what relation between yourself and Mrs. Tilton and her family did that letter relate? A. To that disturbed condition which Moulton and Tilton and I attempted to restore to order and harmony again, that want of confidence between husband and wife which I thought I had been the occasion of impairing, and which I labored considerably to restore, and to encourage her as her pastor as well as friend, to use every endeavor in the power of human nature to restore the bright and particular object of her life.

Q. Now, in the latter part of that letter, Mr. Beecher, there is a word underscored, "to send me a letter of true inwardness." Was there any special or conventional meaning of that word as between you and Mrs. Tilton? A. There was in it on my part, but no conventional or understood meaning between us. I did not wish to encourage her in the slightest degree, that she should write to me about her religious experiences to the exclusion of every other.

Q. Now, there is another phrase here, "True inwardness, the outcome of your inner life." "It would be safe, for I am now at home here, with my sister, and it is permitted to you." A. The permission was simply a reference to the fact that in—that by our past agreements and by an understanding of all parties there was—there need not be any hindrance to our social relations.

Q. This was the subject of the interview you have given in February? A. That was in February, 1871, and this is in February, 1872.

"Safe."

Q. Now, on the subject of being "safe," in what sense of safety did you use that expression? A. Well, sir, when a woman is invited to pour out her innermost thoughts on religious subjects it is—she has a right to the knowledge that it shall not be shown. It was to be one of those letters that I would not take to Moulton. There were several that I never did take to him, that I regarded—

Mr. Beach—This is not within the line of inquiry.

Mr. Evarts—Well, this least observation in that privacy, in that sense of privacy, was the word "safe" used? A. Certainly.

Q. Can you now remember, Mr. Beecher, whether or not this letter was written subsequent to an interview which has been spoken of in Tilton's testimony, an interview which you had with him in the cars at Springfield? A. Well, I could not. I don't know that I could identify it in any such way.

Q. In January, 1872? A. In January, 1872. I don't know that I could identify it in any such way.

Q. Well, you remember that you had an interview with him in the cars? A. Distinctly.

Q. And the date of that has been fixed, I think, by Tilton or by a letter? A. But there is no date to this, and I—

Q. No date to that, but this is while your sister was in your house? A. Yes, sir.

Q. Now, can you, or not, recall whether or no that letter was written that winter, 1872, subsequent to your interview with Tilton in the cars, or not? A. I cannot recollect anything about that, sir.

Q. Do you know how early in the winter of 1872 your wife left your house? A. No, sir. I cannot recall it.

Q. Did she leave as early as the beginning of January to go South? A. I could not say, sir. It varied in different years, and I have not looked to the point at all. I could very easily ascertain if you thought it was important.

Another Letter by Beecher.

Q. Please look at that letter. Do you remember writing this letter, Mr. Beecher. A. Yes. I have a general recollection of it.

Q. I read it, as I wish to ask you some questions. It is dated the 20th of January, 1872, and commences with a quotation (reading.)

"Now may the God of Peace that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great Shepherd of sheep, through the blood of the everlasting Covenant, make you perfect in every good work to do His will, working in you that which is well and pleasing in His sight, through Jesus Christ. This is my prayer day and night. This world ceases to hold me as it did. I live in thought and hope of coming immortality and seem to myself most of the time to be standing on the edge of life, wondering whether I may not at any hour hear the call: Come up hither. I shall be in New Haven next week to begin my course of lectures to the theological classes on preaching. My wife takes the boat for Havana and Florida on Thursday. I called on Monday, but you were out. I hope you are gaining strength, growing stronger and happier. May the dear Lord and Saviour abide with you.

"Very truly yours,
"H. W. BEECHER."

Q. Do you now see the time, or about the time, at which your wife left for the South? A. I do.

Q. So that the former letter to which your attention was just called was written after that date, where you speak of your sister as being at home, with your sister? A. Well, it would depend on whether my sister—oh, it must have been.

Q. Now, sir, here is

A Slip of Paper

that has been put in evidence. That is your writing? A. Yes, sir, that is my writing.

Q. Now, by memory or in any other way, can you connect that slip or memorandum with any other letter, or as being enclosed in any other letter, or what not? A. I don't remember any.

Q. It does not connect itself in your mind or memory with any other communication? A. No, sir.

Q. Now, sir, will you state on what occasion or under what circumstances that letter of yours (showing witness a letter)—it is the same letter which I have just read aloud to the jury—was written? A. Yes, sir; when? I don't understand what you mean exactly. You mean what object?

Q. What occasion or what circumstances in the family of Mrs. Tilton or Mr. Tilton had occurred? A. The death of his brother, sir, had occurred not far from that time.

Q. Now, looking at that letter, do you recall any special circumstances to which that refers which led to the writing of that quotation and the residue of the letter? A. Well, that was a letter written, as near as I can recollect, sir, in furtherance of the same line of conversation that I have spoken of again and again, to keep in Mrs. Tilton, and from time to time to let her know that I thought of her and prayed for her, and was looking to see good fruit of her own endeavor. This was written on Saturday, and I was going to be gone week after week right straight along, and I wrote to tell her that I had called to see her.

Heart and Courage

Q. Did you know at the time of writing this letter of the care and attention that Mrs. Tilton had given to the nursing of Mr. Tilton's brother? A. I did.

Q. But you had heard of it? A. I had heard of it.

Q. Was it a prolonged illness and nursing? A. I cannot say about that, sir, definitely, but I remember his being a very feeble person from—in and out, I had seen him there for years before from time to time, and knew him to be a very delicate and feeble person, and I heard of his being in the hospital or in the retreat, and I heard of his death, and I heard also of Mrs. Tilton's great kindness to him.

Called on Mrs. Tilton.

Q. Now, you had called upon her, had you? A. When this letter was written?

Q. Yes. A. Yes, sir, called at her house.

Q. And did not see her? A. I did not see her. She was out, as was said.

Q. Now, you have said that you were to leave town for a considerable absence? A. It was to be an absence that would run until spring, taking out the heart of each week.

Q. It was prolonged occupation of certain days of the week? A. I had twelve lectures to deliver at New Haven week by week.

Q. Now, Mr. Beecher, in this announcement of the fact of the proposed date of your wife's departure, was there any interest or purpose in respect of any visits of Mrs. Tilton. A. None whatever.

Q. And as a matter of fact was she at your house thereafter? A. No, sir. She was not.

A Little Note.

Q. (Handing witness a paper.) That little note refers to your seeing Mrs. Tilton "next Friday," if you "don't see her to-morrow." A. (reading) "If I don't see you to-morrow night, I will next Friday."

Q. Now can you from that memorandum recall any circumstance or date or day of the week on which that was written? A. I cannot fix it as to the time definitely. I recollect the circumstance. I know Mrs. Tilton wished to see me about her mother, or some other matter, and I dropped this hasty note to say that if I did not see her on Friday night I would the next Friday night.

Q. And where on "Friday next" would you have seen her? A. In the lecture-room, or after the lecture

Q. Is that the reference to Friday night? A. That is what I understand it, sir.

Q. Well, at that time, as well as now, Friday night was the regular prayer-meeting night? A. Yes, sir; it never had been any other. It is the regular prayer-meeting night, and it is the night of errands, incidents, and so on, at the close.

Interchanges Between Pastor and Congregation.

Q. Now, what is the habit of these interchanges between you as pastor and those of your congregation who present themselves? Is there any privacy about it? A. No, sir; that all takes place in the front, in the cluster of people.

Q. In the public room? A. Always.

Q. And in the presence of such as there are there? A. Yes, sir; they stop from twenty to fifty, or sometimes a hundred of them, but generally there were from ten to twenty little errands or engagements of people that want to see me and ask what day they can call; other persons to know if I can attend a baptism, or if I have received a note, or if I will come to tea, and a thousand little things of that kind. I am out of town so much that it is difficult to get at me.

The Woodhull Card.

Q. Mr. Beecher, do you remember in May, 1871, or thereabouts, anything arising in reference to a card of Mrs. Woodhull that had appeared in some of the New York papers? A. I do.

Q. How was that brought to your notice and by whom? A. I don't know, sir. I saw it in the papers.

Q. And now, when did it come to be a matter of conference between you and Moulton, or you and Tilton? A. I think—well, within a few days—within a day or two—I have an impression of the day following, but I cannot say quite certainly.

Q. And now, what occurred between you and Tilton or Moulton, or both of them, consequent upon the appearance of this card? A. The only thing I recalled was an interview between Tilton a day or two afterward, in which he gave me an account of his visit to Mrs. Woodhull.

Q. When was the first time, Mr. Beecher, and where, that you saw Mrs. Woodhull? A. Some time in the midsummer of 1871.

Q. And where? A. At Mrs. Tilton's house.

Q. How did that meeting come about? A. I was walking one Sunday afternoon from Moulton's house with him, and we strolled along at haphazard. We came down in that neighborhood, and he said: "Look here, let's go in and see Tilton. Mrs. Woodhull is going to be there this afternoon." That was the first intimation I had of her presence. I declined to go in, but he said he thought it would be better, that I had better do it, and I consented to his urging and went in and saw her.

Mr. Beecher said he had an interview with Mrs. Woodhull of about fifteen minutes, but the Tilton troubles were not mentioned. He met her twice afterward.

The Court here adjourned.

Canning Maple Sirup.

"Ritta Reed," in Moore's Rural New Yorker, says: As the season for sugar-making has arrived, I would like to give your readers my experience in canning maple sirup. I have succeeded in keeping it as nice as when first canned without any trouble from crystalization, by simply turning the can bottom side up, and letting it remain so for an hour before putting it away. By serving it in this way, I have kept it when the sirup was nearly as thick as strained honey, as free from crystalizing as when first put up. It is but due to the Rural New Yorker to say that I got the idea from its columns a few years since, but do not remember who advanced it. Try it, "troubled Martha's," and you will have no more broken cans from that cause.

ST. LOUIS.

Train Robbers Captured.

ST. LOUIS, April 6.—As conductor Wagner was running a freight train to St. Louis on the Indianapolis & St. Louis railroad this morning, when near Mattoon, Ills., he noticed that two boxes of boots had been thrown from the train, and upon making search, discovered five men in one of the cars, but they escaped. After going a few miles farther be again discovered two cars loaded with merchandise open, and in a car loaded with marble next to them he found eight men secreted. Two of them jumped out and made their escape, but with the assistance of the brakeman he succeeded in nailing the doors of the car and bringing the other six to East St. Louis, where they were delivered into the hands of the police authorities. They gave their names as Wm. Cusick, Wm. Moore, Joe Branan, Ed. Collins, John Donohoe and John Doyle.

The Steamer Paragon Burned.

Between four and five o'clock this evening the steamer Paragon, lying at Kountz's line wharf boat, loading for New Orleans, took fire in the hold. Efforts were made to subdue the flames by closing the hatches and elevators, but the fire gained too much headway, and was then towed across the river by the tug Gartside, where she burned to the water's edge, and the hull subsequently sunk in eight feet of water. The boat was owned by Jas. Rees, of Pittsburgh, Capt. Jno. Darragh, her Commander, and Thos. E. Darragh, Clerk. She cost seventy thousand dollars two years ago. She was insured for $20,000 in Pittsburgh companies. She had about 1,500 tons of cargo on board, valued at about $125,000. The insurance is unknown.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 6, 1875.

Obtaining Mail Contracts Illegally.

Conclusive proof has been obtained that four or five clerks in the Postoffice Department and several persons outside have secured a number of contracts for mail service in the Southwestern States by means of a counterfeit of the stamp containing the initials of the First and Second Postmaster Generals, which is placed on bids when opened, in order to show that they have been received in time. This counterfeit stamp has been used to give apparent validity to "straw bids" made at lower figures than the lowest of the bids really opened at the advertised time. Among the contractors implicated is Hynes, recently appointed United States Marshal for Alabama. The contracts thus secured will be annulled and all clerks implicated immediately dismissed.

Appointments.

The President to-day appointed J. Madison Wells as Surveyor of Customs at New Orleans, and C. W. Ringgold as Appraiser of Merchandise at the same place. He also signed the commissions of Charles F. Kimball as Postmaster at Pontiac, Michigan, and Washington O'Donoghue as Postmaster at Flint, Michigan.

Legal Tenders Outstanding.

The outstanding legal tenders amounted to $379,226,900.

PITTSBURGH AND THE CENTENNIAL.

Our Great Tea Party—Design of The Centennial Misunderstood—Wonderful Stride of the Great Republic, Etc.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

PHILADELPHIA, April 3, 1875.

An observer from without the city, I saw with great pleasure, some weeks ago, that the attention of some of the foremost gentler residents of Pittsburgh had been attracted to the propriety of giving an entertainment in aid of the laudable objects of the Centennial celebration. What was then a crude idea, has been developed, and thanks to the managers of the enterprise, it is to culminate this week in the Tea Party, an entertainment which, from its success elsewhere, seems to have been sagaciously contrived as a facile medium of approach to the purse strings of those who are desirous to contribute to the appropriate celebration of their country's birthday. Glancing over the list of names of those who have the management of the undertaking, it is a certificate of its success, so far as these ladies can effect it. There is only wanting a vein of enthusiasm among the people who will be expected to patronize the party to insure its success. If the spasmodic energy which is now being usefully expended in nightly contests for supremacy at the spelling "bee" could be turned for a few evenings into the channel of this patriotically conceived "tea fight," the women who have given their time and attention to its preparation would be enrolled to the honor of Pittsburgh among the number of conspicuous friends of the Centennial exhibition, who, in other cities, during the past season, have inaugurated and successfully carried through similar patriotic festivals. It is to try and develop a large interest in this Centennial Tea Party that I encroach upon your space by this letter. Every one who gives likes to know to what end he gives. I will attempt to trace the future prospects of the International Exhibition, and from what has already been done, ascertain if the hope can be realized that the Centennial anniversary of the birth of the nation will be so commemorated as to especialy hallow the event and make it worthy of the country, and honorable to the genius of those citizens, who feel their country's glory to be a memory and tradition above the ephemeral common-places of the day. The national event to be celebrated in this city in 1876 is one which, on mere mention, should instinctively draw out the sympathy of every true lover of country, irrespective of geographical limit or regardless of sectional envy.

To the thoughtful student of history it is the event of the cycle and conjures up the picture of all the matchless growth and progress of the past century, presaging for the future a still grander career of advancement, under the blessings of the same benign form of government, to be pursued in that field of peaceful art and industry which it is the design of the Centennial Exhibition to encourage and approve.

The design of the Centennial Exhibition has been misunderstood in many places West and South. This arose partly from ignorance and partly from prejudice. These mists are being rapidly cleared away by the endeavors of the Centennial Commission, as well as by the unequivocal evidence Philadelphia has given that she has no selfish attainment in view. There is only one State, Texas, I believe, that has openly declared she has no lot or place in the Exhibition. The people of this State never were given much credit for intelligence, and I can vouch for it in a specimen I met in St. Louis last fall. Conversing with a group about the International Exhibition and its merits, I had a Texan—who knew I was from this city—accost me in the most child-like way with the inquiry—"When does your Centennial take place?" I was surprised at first, but seeing the Southron was in earnest I told him my best recollection was that the Declaration of Independence had occurred in 1776, and that being so, we hoped to celebrate the Centennial next year. I was sorry after I left him that I did not repeat to this ignorant fellow-citizen the well-known verses of Scott—

"Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself has said, &c."

Pride, always odious, the overweening characteristic of America, is pardonable—if at all—when its objective point is one's country. We are well aware that no theme is more often or effectively used to enthral the heart of the populace, than patriotism, but trite as it is no one on this account should forget to render unto this country the things that belong to it.

To the people of Pittsburgh the close of the present century marks more definitely than to the residents of any other municipality of the Union the wonderful strides of the nascent Republic. Fort Pitt had only been christened in honor of the prime minister of George III. eighteen years, when the oppressive acts of that King, perpetuated mostly during the same years drove the colonists to open resistance and separation, by the act which we are to aid in commemorating in 1876. Pittsburgh, in 1776, when the untried confederacy took its station among the nations of the earth, was the scarcely known frontier post, in the heart of the primeval forest possessed by the Indian. Beyond was the vast northwest expanse, and still further on the unknown possessions of Spain. From the heart of this wilderness, in the period we mark, have been carved States, empires in themselves. Cities larger than the largest city of colonial times, towns, villages and flourishing hamlets have arisen; wealth and cultivation, industry and thrift have metamorphosed the domain of nature and reclaimed the home of the savages—and those savages! Scarce a vestige of these former owners of the soil remain, to display at the celebration of the Centennial, glimpses of that life which was so prominent in the affairs of the nation when it was ushered on its career of prosperity a century ago. The growth of Pittsburgh is contemporaneous with the growth of the Republic. The small strip of seaboard country which contained the three millions, of colonial times, was too meagre to compass the accretions of the century. But who of all that number could have predicted it or foreseen that no barrier would keep back the tide of restless movement then begun, until the whole continent was traversed and the waters of the Western sea reflected the march of civilization upon itself?—the civilization of which the few scattering houses that clung around Fort Pitt was the extreme Western limit in 1776. To the thinking man the slight and transitory re-creation of the past, as he views it at the Centennial Tea Party, cannot fail to awaken such speculation as above on the wonderful growth and advance of the Republic since those years which the spectacle before him serves to recall. History has no parallel career to recite, nor will there ever be, in the nature of things, any such for a rising nation of the future. The age of geographical discovery has passed; the reclamation of the uttermost part of the earth almost complete; the future race for primacy will be in that broad avenue of the peaceful arts and industry, and where the affiliation of humanity is happily complete, in such generous rivalry and competition as these international reunions are destined to encourage. It is the design of the Centennial Exhibition of next year to hasten the day of these international triumphs in celebrating, by an enduring memorial, the country's unexampled career.

It is only necessary to bring this project to the observation of the people of Pittsburgh; their patriotic aspirations will assure an acquisition to the contributions already secured for the Centennial fund, alike worthy of the cause and the people who tender the bounty.

THE New York Herald shows that the election in Connecticut shows a decrease in the Democratic majority, as compared with last year, and argues that it is, substantially, a defeat.

Two gentlemen were deputed to bear to Cardinal McCloskey the intelligence and the insignia relating to his new dignity. Both arrived yesterday. Now that the official notification, and the proper insignia of the Cardinal are here, we shall soon have intelligence of his formal investiture.

THE Pest House purchase is declared by an evening contemporary to be "about the most preposterous of all the enterprises which mark the era of the past extravagance." Right. We propose that the Taxpayers' Union make Captain Ward a committee to investigate and report on this particular purchase.

THE Post declares there are just $1.76 in the State Treasury. It means that after the Democrats had turned $1,200,000 into the Sinking Fund, and there are just $1,76 in the General Revenue Fund. But as the Sinking Fund, and the moneys belonging to it, are as really parts of the Treasury as the General Revenue Fund, the true statement is,—there are $1,200,001.76 in the State Treasury, of which only $1.76 are available for current expenses. Cause, the stupid partisanship of the Democratic party.

THERE is a complication possible in the closing up of the Louisiana compromise. It is said that the Republican members will resign, per agreement, but that the seats will not be given to Democrats. Hence there will be vacancies which will be filled by a special election, to be ordered by the Governor. The districts referred to are claimed to be Republican on a fair vote, and hence the refusal to admit Democrats to represent them. If it was a part of the bargain that Democrats should have those seats, we think that nothing is gained by breaking the bargain. The misfortune of Louisiana politics, all along, has been the utter untrustworthiness of those claiming to represent either political party. This is the source, we fear, of further trouble. We are not perfectly clear as to the terms of the compromise,—but whatever they were, they should be rigidly carried out.

WE have no disposition to assume that the Taxpayers' Union has not done good, in inspiring a more careful feeling among officials, as to the manner in which the public funds of the city are managed. If it has made mistakes, it has to its credit that it has done good. But we beg to assure it that the reception, by Captain Ward, of $40,000 and interest for the Pest House property, is one of those questionable transactions that as much need investigating as any we have heard of. It is not, we judge, a dishonest transaction, but it involves the sale to the city of a given property at an extravgant price. This, at least, is the general declaration. The fact that a member of the Union is one of the principals in the transaction, illustrates the readiness with which even good men can be induced to get a good price out of the city. If Captain Ward were anybody else, this transaction would be sure to be severely criticised by the Union.

A SINGULAR rumor has been started through the Journal des Debats, Paris, that the Pope contemplates emigrating to this country, in the event of his residence in Rome becoming impossible, and that it was with this idea in view that Mr. McCloskey was created a Cardinal. Should this very unlikely event come to pass, what a stir it would make! As among the Catholics of this country, it would, no doubt, be a popular movement, and he would probably be better sustained here than in Europe, so far as devotion and mere financial support are concerned. On the other hand, those who imagine that the Pope is the Beast of the Apocalypse, and who associate him with many of the maledictions of Scripture, would be interested to arrange a new interpretation of the prophecies to suit the altered condition of affairs. At the same time his desertion of the Holy City, with its multitude of relics, its grand St. Peter's, and all the associations which make Rome what it is, the capital city of the Roman Catholic Church, would severely shock the faithful in Europe. Altogether, it would be an event of more than usual importance, and one that would command very general attention.

WE HAVE plans and plans. A few days since a gentleman called on us who was so fully convinced that he had wrought out the exact plan for providing for the national debt, and the practical resumption of specie payments,—by issuing greenbacks to the extent of the national debt, and retiring five per cent. of them annually,—that he felt that the President would call a special session of Congress to consider it, were the plans clearly brought to his attention. Sir Francis Hincks, of Canada, has a plan, embracing the following points: 1. The retirement of the National Debt notes. 2. The issue of national notes in lieu of them, and of the present legal tender; said national notes to be convertible on demand of gold, and therefore properly called gold notes. These, of course, would be at par so long as they were convertible. 3. That the gold necessary to redeem these notes, say one-third of the whole amount, or $250,000,000, be obtained by the sale of bonds bearing 4 per cent. interest. Not to enter into the general discussion of this subject, we take from the Chicago Tribune, which is a hard money paper, a clear refutation of this absurd plan: To redeem the $383,000,000 of greenbacks now in circulation with a 4 per cent. bond, would cost the United States $15,280,000. To sell $250,000,000 of 5½ per cent bonds for gold, would cost $13,750,000 in the first instance. As fast as this gold is drawn out in exchange for notes, bonds will have to be purchased, but bonds cannot be purchased with currency at the same price as with gold; when the United States sell their bonds at 100 for gold, they cannot repurchase with currency at less than 1 per cent. advance, consequently, each purchase and sale would involve a cost of at least 1 per cent. This is on the assumption that there was no combination. But with $750,000,000 of greenbacks in circulation, it would not be difficult to draw out $250,000,000 of gold on demand, and forcing the Government to purchase it back at such advance as the combination might require. This process, offering immense profits, could readily be repeated several times a year. It would be an expensive mode of maintaining specie payments, and it is just this difficulty that has rendered it impossible for any Government ever to maintain a National currency convertible into coin on demand. Though often attempted, it has never been successful.

A NEW ISSUE.

The Vicar General of the Catholic Church in New York demands that the parochial schools of his Church, in that State, shall be supported by the State on the same terms, and in the same way as the public schools are supported. This demand represents a new phase of the public school struggle, and one so at variance with all preconceived views on the subject, that even the New York World, the Democratic organ in that city, is forced into hostility to the demand. It was considered a serious matter when the Catholics demanded that, out of respect to their religious views, the Bible should be excluded from the public schools. There were those among Protestants who were disposed to overlook the source and spirit of the demand, and, considering the subject on its merits, agree that the Bible should be thus excluded, on the ground that it was not a text book, and that our schools were not designed to provide religious, but only secular instruction. Thus, for reasons totally aside from those presented by the Catholics, they agreed that possibly it was wise that the Bible should be excluded. These were not our views, but we mention them as the sentiments of some Protestants.

But this was the narrowest possible phase of the subject. Evidently it was, with the Catholics, the entering wedge to other demands. When the contest was being made against the Bible, however, it was freely said, by many prominent and sincere Catholics, that all they desired was non-sectarian schools. If the Bible, which they regarded as a sectarian document, were eliminated, they had no further objections, and would cheerfully sustain our public school system. We do not, for a moment, doubt their sincerity. But it is evident that the prelates of the Church were not of this mind. This later demand is in evidence that they had further designs. The serious character of these demands may be at once seen when we say, that once grant them, and our public school system is prostrate. The appropriations made to support parochial schools must either be taken from the public school funds, thus crippling them, or must be raised by increased taxation. The concessions demanded, being made to one denomination must be made to all. Break into and squander our school funds, and support parochial schools, and our public school system will at once be broken up. Says a journal on this subject, "a fight is evidently at hand, a fight to the death, in which either the system of free schools or the influence of the Catholic Church in American politics must be finally destroyed. With the beliefs of men we countenance no interference. This country should offer, as it has done hitherto, free asylum and equal protection to men of every religious faith. But when an attempt is made to undermine our free institutions, by those of any faith or of no faith at all, it is time to defend those institutions, and, if it be necessary, to drive that hostile influence completely out of our public affairs."

Our public school system is vital to the maintenance of civil and religious liberty. Their maintenance at all depends on their being unsectarian and free. The argument for the exclusion of the Bible was urged on the ground that it was a sectarian document, and there was an element of plausibility in it, and of harmony with the idea that underlies our public school system. But this last demand is open and undisguised in its hostility to our entire system of public schools, and as such, must be met. We are astonished at the boldness of the demand; and while, for the time being confined to the State of New York, needs only triumph there to be preferred here. The Catholic Church is a unit in its policy; and even now, in New Jersey, a demand similar to that openly made in New York, is being pressed before the Legislature. In this State, there were some inklings of the same purpose when the bill, making an appropriation for the Morganza Refuge School, was pending in the Legislature. What the Catholics must do is to tolerate if they cannot approve our public school system. If they wish parochial schools, they can have them, just as other denominations do, by supporting them by special patronage.

THE ELECTIONS.

The election in Connecticut continues the political power in that State in the hands of the Democrats. Their joy will be all the more ecstatic that they feared, and expected defeat. The canvass was one of the most active and energetic known in that State for years. We do not know of special reason for the result. The vote was large, hence it cannot be said that the weather and roads prevented a full turnout. The State went Democratic last year, and has generally done so on State elections for several years. Hence the result this year is not exceptional; but the Republicans made a gallant fight to secure a change, and were sanguine of success. They are disappointed in this sense only. Doubts were entertained, outside Connecticut, of the wisdom of the expectations indulged, and there was no enthusiastic feeling manifested. Had the State been wrested from Democratic grasp it would have occasioned wide-spread and earnest rejoicing. As it is, the disappointment simply consists in the failure to realize hopes that were too sanguinely held in the State, and that were regarded as only of possible fruition by those who were calm lookers on. This is all the result involves. Our Republican friends in that State deserve credit for making a gallant fight; but the Democracy entrenched in power, also put forth their best energy, and so maintained the status of affairs. The State remains just where it has been, everything considered. The Democrats have the Governor, as they had last year. They have gained one member of Congress, and the Republicans have made gains in the Legislature. It looks to us, at this writing, as though the Republicans expected the Governor to fail of election by the people, or for some reason to have put their chief strength on the Legislature. Here they made gains. The Democrats, on the other hand, struggled to retain the Governorship in their hands, and to increase their representation in Congress, and were successful. Thus it was a drawn battle.

In Michigan, where a State election was also held, the Republican party has made large gains. Marston, the Republican candidate for Justice of the Supreme Court, has from 15,000 to 20,000 majority, and the balance of the ticket has nearly equal strength. This is a triumph far more significant than that of the Democracy in Connecticut. In one State,—Michigan,—the Democratic party sought to break the Republican strength, and utterly failed. In the other,—Connecticut,—the Republicans sought to capture the Democratic citadel, and partially succeeded. The balance is very clearly on the Republican side.

Thus the question whether the Democracy can entertain hopes of future success is as far from being determined as ever. The fact that the Democracy are compelled to such unusual efforts to hold their own, in States where they are accustomed to triumph easily cannot be encouraging to their leaders. The statistics clearly show that the result on an election for State officers in Connecticut, bears no relation to the Presidential issue. Grant carried the State each time he ran, and yet the same year, the Democrats carried it on their home election. It seems to prove that the people there are imbued with Republican principles, and that on distinctly national issues they vote with the Republican party, but that the Democrats are possessed of more popular candidates for local offices and for Governor. Thus it is left for the later elections of the year to show the real drift of the people. Pennsylvania, therefore, will have the opportunity to show the real strength, and its voice, this Fall will be as potent in its influence on the Presidential issue, as at any time in the past. We should carefully prepare, for this reason, for the coming struggle.

THE venerable Admiral Joseph Smith, a native of Massachusetts, has entered on his 86th year, 66 years in the navy. He is the only surviving officer of the battle of Lake Champlain, fought in September, 1814, and, since the death of Admiral Shubrick, the oldest surviving officer of the navy.

THE Boston Globe mentions Commissioner Douglass, of the Internal Revenue Bureau, as most likely to succeed Judge Peck on the Bench of the Court of Claims. Mr. Norman B. Judd's name has been more recently used in connection with that office. It is understood that the contest lies between these two gentlemen.

GEN. BUTLER denies that he is counsel in a case to recover $50,000 for property seized for the use of the Union army at New Orleans when he was in command at that city. He says, further, that he is not counsel for any claims pending before the Treasury Department, and has not been, nor does he intend to be, counsel for the recovery of any property seized at New Orleans.

WE had an item the other day chronicling the fact that a lady teacher of Kansas had bought a farm in Iowa, with money she had herself earned in teaching. And now we hear of a Hamilton county (Iowa) girl, who not only has educated herself, but has earned over $1,500 in teaching, and they don't have very high wages out that way, either. She deserves a farm and farmer, too!

THE only original likeness now in existence of Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner," is said to be in the possession of his sister, now a resident of San Francisco. A life-sized bust in plaster has been made from it, which is said to be a very successful piece of work, and the bronze statue proposed by Mr. Lick will probably be copied from it, in case Mr. Lick carries out his original benefaction.

THE Leavenworth Commercial of March 31 learns that United States Senator Ingalls, of Kansas, recently met with a pecuniary disaster so serious and far-reaching as to almost reduce him to poverty. The editor says: We get the information that he went security for a brother, who is in the boot and shoe business in a leading Southern city, and was held responsible for a sum exceeding $50,000. He has assigned all his Atchison property for the payment of the debt, pledged his salary as United States Senator for one year in advance, and is still held for $25,000. His little property was accumulated by the industrious labor of 20 years in Kansas, and he is said to feel his reduction to poverty keenly.

THE preparations at Yale College for the coming regatta have already commenced. This year the Freshmen are obliged to take a physical exercise as a part of their regular course, time for the purpose being afforded by dropping one of the usual studies. By the rule of the college, two hours a week are allotted to this instruction. This is evidently a move in the right direction, and will be so received by all interested.

A DRUNKEN wretch named John Carney, living in St. Louis, cut his wife's throat while in bed on Tuesday morning, and shortly after drew the razor across his own throat. Both are expected to die. The only cause known for the act is that Carney asked his wife for money to buy whisky, which she refused to give him. Carney is a worthless creature, while his wife was an industrious, respectable woman, and supported the family, consisting of herself, husband and four children.

A SINGULAR incident occurred in the court-room at Bangor, Me., where Carson is being tried for the murder of Brown, the other day, when the accused picked up the skull of Brown, which had been brought into court in evidence, and remarked: "This skull had a tongue once! I wish it had now; for, if it could speak, it would tell a different story from what some of these witnesses told. It would say I never so much as injured a hair of his head, by any word or any deed I done him."

FROM recent investigation it appears that 52,000,000 bushels of wheat are yet to be brought forward from the States of Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Nebraska. In 1874, the yield per acre of wheat in some localities fell below that of the preceding year. But the acreage was greater and that made up the deficiency. The receipts of wheat at Chicago, between August, 1873, and March, 1874, were 25,717,936 bushels, and from August, 1874, to the present month, 16,515,260, a falling off of over 9,200,000 bushels. The receipts at Milwaukee for the same period shows a deficiency of 8,610,546.

LEONARD PHELPS, a young man aged twenty, shot and instantly killed his uncle, Homer Phelps, at Toledo, Ohio, on Tuesday morning. Homer Phelps and his brother had some difficulty on Monday which ended in hard words. On Tuesday morning Homer came to his brother's house, and found the doors closed against him, when he attempted to gain an entrance by force, which attracted the attention of his nephew, Leonard, who at once ordered him away, enforcing his demand by throwing a hatchet at him. Homer then drew a revolver and chased his nephew from the house, when the family interfered and drove the uncle from the house. As he ran down the road Leonard returned to the house, got his rifle and fired, the ball striking the uncle in the back and killing him instantly. The murderer gave himself up.

THE late Guillaume Guizot's library is being sold. The receipts of the first day's sale, were 4,677 francs, of the second upwards of 5,000, being insignificant sums considering the supposed value of the collection. M. Wallon is a candidate for the Guizot seat in the Academy.

MR. GEORGE ALEXANDER MACFARREN, the eminent composer, has been unanimously elected Professor of Music in Cambridge University, England. Like Prof. Fawcett, of the same University, Mr. Macfarren is blind.

THE Pope's encyclical letter of February 3, 1875, seems likely to divide the German Catholics, who have hitherto supported the Pope in his conflict with their government. The Catholic Deputies publish their protest against the assumption of the Pope to declare invalid and nullify "laws constitutionally enacted." Indeed, as this pretence justifies the ground taken against the Pope by the Berlin government, it is likely to do the Church great harm.

M. D. CONWAY tells of a lady in one of the manufacturing towns of Great Britain who recently had her attention attracted to the window of a milliner's shop by a beautiful and very expensive French bonnet, and she inquired the price; she was told it was sold. "Oh, I had no idea of buying such an expensive bonnet," said the lady, upon which the milliner said, "It is a joint-stock bonnet—that is, it belongs to three factory girls, who wear it by turns on Sunday."

SMUGGLERS used to get into the train at Geneva and Lyons with their valises full of cigars and their pockets full of dirty linen. Generally they got a compartment where they were alone. Before they reached the frontier they opened the cushions of the railway carriage, took some of their cigars, and then filled their valises with the dirty linen, and in that shape passed the Custom House authorities; but they were caught, and now the cigars are reconstructed.

ONE of the latest European scandals is to the effect that the Duchess Sophia, youngest sister of the Empress of Austria and wife of the Duke d'Alencon, an Orleans Prince, has fled to the United States with a Bavarian photographer, with whom she has long been infatuated. She had, previous to her marriage with Alencon, been engaged to King Louis II. of Bavaria, but the match was broken off on account of scandalous stories in which the same photographer was involved.

ANOTHER of the leaders of the home rule movement in Ireland is stricken by sickness. John Martin, the member for Meath, was a colleague of Mitchel in the '48 movement, and, like him, was sentenced as a felon and sent across the sea. This verdict his countrymen reversed by sending him to Parliament from one of the most important counties in Ireland. Mr. Martin some years ago married John Mitchel's sister, and it is supposed that the excitement consequent on his brother-in-law's final campaign has induced physical prostration.

THE insurance of infant lives, facilities for which are afforded by friendly societies in England, appears in the present state of public morals, a somewhat questionable system. In Liverpool the general rate of mortality of children under one year old is 30,343, and of insured children of the same age, 14,992; of children in general under two years old, 18,491, and of insured children 12,804, and so on. The same rule holds in other towns, and the London Medical Times expresses the opinion that the system constitutes a great danger to the lives of the insured infants; and that they are insured for the sake of the burial money; and that an unnatural proportion die so soon as the burial money is obtained.

A VENDETTA.

A Corsican Family Feud.

An extraordinary trial for murder has just taken place in Corsica. The victim was a young man of Rogliano, named Tedeschi, and the accused, Jean and François Marioni, aged respectively seventy and sixty-eight, father and uncle of the wife of the first named. Two daughters of Jean Marioni married, the one Tedeschi, the other her cousin, a son of François. Disputes about money affairs soon arose in the family, and the father, who appears to have been under the influence of his brother, wished to dispose of his fortune, so as to give an undue share to his daughter Madeleine, who had married the son of François, to the prejudice of Rosita, Tedeschi's wife. The latter had a dowry of 50,000 francs, but of which she received only the revenue, an annual sum of 2,000 francs, paid half yearly. Her husband had, however, a great difficulty in obtaining the money, and each payment was the occasion of a violent quarrel. On the 26th of December last he called at the house occupied by his father-in-law and uncle to receive his wife's income; as usual high words passed between them, and on leaving he had only gone a few yards from the door when a gun-shot was fired at him and he fell mortally wounded. The murderer was the uncle, but Tedeschi before expiring declared that after he had fallen his father-in-law came out and kicked and ill-used him, and tried to take back the 1,000 francs he had just before given him. Great sensation was caused on the trial by the deposition of the widow, who declared that she had sworn to her husband to obtain vengeance, and that she demanded it of justice, although on her own father and uncle. The indignation among the population was such that the proceedings in Court were frequently interrupted by manifestations from the public; angry words were also frequently exchanged between the advocates for the prisoners and the members of the family of the victim, and at length it became necessary to have a guard of fifty soldiers to preserve order. The jury acquitted Jean Marioni, the father, but returned a verdict of guilty against the other brother, François, who was, in consequence, condemned for ten years' imprisonment and pay 40,000 francs to the widow and her child.

A CONSUMMATE VILLAIN.

A Murderer Captured after Enjoying Freedom for Three Years—About to Add Bigamy to His Other Crimes.

On Monday, T. A. Schreyer, employed as a clerk in a drug store in Wheeling, was arrested on a charge of murder. It was charged that in February, 1872, he had shot and killed one John Norton, in Shelby county, Tennessee. He had been employed as a clerk in the drug store for several months, and had always conducted himself properly; but it seems he was a bad man. A local paper gives his record as follows: This man Schreyer, alias Von Duren, married a woman in Tennessee, in 1869, with considerable money. After a couple of years' wedlock, his wife had discovered that her husband was speculating her money very fast, and at the same time treating her badly, she sued for a divorce. Pending this decision of the Judge, Schreyer shot and killed this man Norton. Schreyer was arrested, tried and convicted of manslaughter, and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. His counsel succeeded in getting a writ of error, for the purpose of carrying the case before the Supreme Court of Tennessee, and Schreyer was admitted to bail in the sum of $5,000; his wife, who was suing for a divorce, going on his bond. He jumped his bond, and since that time has managed to elude the vigilance of the detectives who were on his track, until his arrest Monday. The man was a consummate villian. He had won the affections of an estimable young lady of Wheeling, and was to have been married to her next week. He purchased the wedding ring at a well-known jewelry store last Saturday, and the lady had made all arrangements for the wedding. The prisoner has been taken back to Memphis.

FIGHTING FOR THE CAPITOL.

Wheeling is Willing to Pay Up—The Vote on the "Capital Bonds" Question.

The Legislature of West Virginia recently decided to remove the Capital of the State from Charleston to Wheeling, and there has been a bitter fight going on between the two towns ever since. One of the conditions of the removal was that Wheeling would erect a new Capitol building, and this came before the people of Wheeling on Monday and decided by a vote of 1,813 for to 316 against, to issue bonds to the amount of $100,000 to provide funds for the erection of the proposed buildings, and the Register in commenting upon this action says:—"Charleston having fought with all her energy and might to retain the Capital, will doubtless accept the situation, and no longer strive to keep up a useless warfare, but will acquiesce in the will of the people of the State; and when her people come to Wheeling next November, our word for it, they will be cordially and hospitably welcomed."

WASHINGTON GOSSIP.

The Cabinet Carriages—Mrs. Robeson's Bays — Mrs. Belknap's Dresses.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial writes: The Fishes lead the Cabinet in equipage, as indeed they do in everything that is elegant. Their livery is a subdued brown, and the carriage large and dark. On the panel is a monogram, H. F., and a sea griffin and dolphin, surrounded with the inscription Deus Dabit. Mother and daughter usually occupy it alone, the older face pale and blonde and refined, with a shadow of weariness around the light-gray eyes; the younger dark-eyed and delicate, and in spite of its extreme naughtiness, with a child-like simplicity of expression, totally absent from the generality of American girls. Secretary Robeson drives a dog-cart, and Mrs. Robeson can drive, too, though she refrains from that accomplishment in the city. But some of us remember her at Rye, last summer, guiding her prancing bays over those smooth New Hampshire roads, while the footman sat behind, evidently enjoying being driven out by a lady. The Belknap carriage is noticeable more from the blooming face inside than for extra outward show. Radiant Mrs. Belknap, whom all concede to be the best dressed woman in Washington. Visit her at whatever hour you may, she is always ready. There is no rushing down stairs, putting in her sleeve-buttons with one hand and pinning her collar with the other, never. Through all the gradations prescribed by the most rigorous code of etiquette, from the loosest negligee to the most gorgeous ball dress, she is always complete. When Worth received the order for her trousseau he retired to a cave and fasted for seven days, so that he might begin the undertaking with a clear mind. I recall one costume of hers that certainly did him credit; the petticoat was of alternate stripes of white satin, embroidered with ivy leaves, and green satin, embroidered with gold wheat ears; the train was of green satin, bordered with a heavy garland of ivy and wheat; a cluster of these adorned her glossy black hair, and emeralds in heavy gold setting were the jewels she wore.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

OFFICE OF TREASURER OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY, PITTSBURGH, April 1, 1875.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, April 7, 1875.

Bank officers declare that we have not, for many years, had so easy and quiet a time, in settling first of April balances, as during the present year. Money is as easy at the banks, and the settlements of the season were easily effected, and without apparent strain. The several banks are not making as much money as heretofore, but their business is safely and carefully done. Yet in many departments of business there is really far more prosperity than has been thought possible by many. There is, indeed, palpable and evident revival of business in several departments of trade. Orders are, to our certain knowledge, offered here, and could our manufacturers and puddlers agree as to terms, there would be more business transacted than by many is thought possible. We were reliably informed yesterday that at this moment the stock of iron in Chicago is lower than ever before known.

—The anthracite coal tonnage reported by the several coal carrying companies for the week ending on the 27th ult. aggregated ...2,411 tons, and for the year to date to ...183,430 tons, against 4,568,665 tons to corresponding date last year, showing a decrease of 1,085,235 tons. The bituminous tonnage for the week was 57,532 tons and for the year 478,397 tons, against 442,302 tons to corresponding time last year, an increase of 36,095 tons. The total tonnage of ... hard and soft coals reported amounted ... 279,943 tons, and for the year to 3,961,527 tons, against 5,010,967 tons to corresponding time last year, a decrease in both kinds of ...049,140 tons. These aggregates are subject to a deduction for so much coal as passes over more than one road, and thus is included in the above reported aggregate. The amount, however, is not very considerable, and does not change materially the relative tonnage of the companies. The quantity of coke and coal transported over the Pennsylvania Railroad for the week was 77,934 tons, and for the year 617,083 tons, of which 504,353 was coal and 112,... coke. This embraces all the coal carried over the road, both anthracite and bituminous, East and West.—Phila. Ledger.

—The New Orleans Picayune, discussing the present financial condition of the South, says: "In three years the cotton crop of the South has yielded 11,750,000 bales, of the estimated value of $725,000,000. The value of the crops for the three years preceding the war was $834,000,000. Yet, notwithstanding this large increase, the Picayune says that the cotton States are every year going deeper and deeper into debt. As a partial remedy, it suggests the diversification of the crops, so that the planter may have more for his personal support and that of his employes, and less need for expenditure on this account. It seems scarcely credible that with an average annual return of $234,960,000 from cotton, the Southern States should be in such a deplorable condition, but this is their own confession, if it must be true."

—The Canadian Monetary Times, of Toronto, referring to the stringency of the money market there, says: "One Toronto house had to take up $34,000 customers' paper on the 4th of March. Another in dry goods, having $36,000 due from customers on 15th to 18th March, received but $2,000 on account of it. Then with respect to the volume of trade: A firm who was accustomed to sell from $20,000 to $25,000 in the month of February sold but little over ...000 worth in February of this year."

—The Pacific Mail Company have arranged to have all their steamers stop hereafter, going and coming, at the port called ...nilla, in the United States and Colombia, mouth of the Magdalena River. Steamers plying on the Magdalena bring down considerable amounts of freight, which will contribute something toward making up profitable cargoes. The first stop will be made by the steamer which leaves New York April 15.

—In addition to the numerous failures in London during the past week, the cable brings the announcement of the failure in London of William Thomas Henly, telegraph engineer and contractor. Liabilities, ...000.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

DAILY REPORT OF PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, April 6, 1875.

There is a fair degree of activity in the general markets, and for most of the leading article a firmer feeling prevails; particularly is this true as regards Coffee, Sugars, Grain, Flour and Provisions.

APPLES—Continue dull but unchanged; $1,50@2,50 ℔ bbl, as to quality and condition.

APPLE BUTTER—50@55c ℔ gal.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—2¾@3c ℔ lb.

BEANS—The market continues quiet and unchanged; quotable, in a jobbing way, at $1,90@2,00 for mediums, and $2@2,10 for navies.

BUTTER—There is a continued fair demand for the better grades, but common, with which the market is largely overstocked, is very dull; sales of prime to choice rolls reported at 25@28c.

BROOMS—There has been a further advance in prices. Following are the "Union" factory rates: No 2 common, $2,75; No 3 Hurl, $3,00; No 4, $3,50; No 5, $4,00; No 6, $4,25; No. 3 Carpet, $4,50; No. 4 do, $4,75; fancy, Parlor, $5,00; Wisps, plain, $1,25@1,75; Wisps, fancy, $1,50@2; Toy Brooms, $1,50@2,00.

CHEESE—There is a very fair jobbing trade but prices remain unchanged; prime Ohio Goshen, 16½@17c New York do., 17@17½c.

DRIED FRUIT—Continues quiet unchanged; Apples, 7½@8½; Peaches, (halves) 8½@9½.

EGGS—Were in very limited supply to-day, and prices have been run up still higher; 23c was generally regarded as the ruling rate, although late in the day some dealers were asking 29@20.

FLOUR—Is firm but unchanged. Spring wheat flours, $5,40@5,50 for Wisconsins and $5,75@6 for Minnesotas; winters, $5,65@5,85 for red, and $6@6,25 for amber and white. Rye Flour, $5,75@6.

GROCERIES—There is rather more stir in grocery circles, although orders, as a rule, are comparatively small, and there is still plenty of room for improvement. The leading staples, however, present no new features to which reference has not previously been made. Coffee, Sugars and Molasses continue very firm, with indications at this writing of an advance.

GRAIN—The grain markets continue very firm, in consequence of the recent sharp advance in the West, our main source of supply, and to-day dealers were indifferent about selling, being impressed with the belief that prices must go higher. For Wheat there does not appear to be much inquiry, but, on the other hand, there does not appear to be much offering, and while the general tone of the market is decidedly firmer, there is not enough doing to establish rates. The Oat market is very stiff; sales of white reported at 68, and some dealers are holding at 70c. Corn is also scarce and firm, and prices are tending upward; quotable at 73@75c for white and mixed Shelled, and 78@80c for yellow Ear, 77@80c, as to quality. Rye continues quiet and unchanged.

HAY—Baled continues very dull; sale of one car prairie at $17; timothy quotable at $19@21 per ton, according to quality. Loose, timothy, from country wagons, $25@30.

HOMINY—4,25@4,50 ℔ bbl.

ONIONS—$3,50@4,50 ℔ bbl, according to quality and condition. Onion Setts, $7@7,50 ℔ bu.

POTATOES—Are coming in more freely, and the market is easier; sales of some 6 cars on track at $1,10 for Peach Blows and $1,05 ℔ bushel for Peerless.

PROVISIONS—The hog product continues strong under the influence of the advices from Chicago, and prices are still tending upward.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, TUESDAY, April 6, 1875.

There is but little that is new or important to record; business continues moderately active and is increasing, while prices are weak and drooping. Crude was offered in barges, delivered here, at $1,85@1,87½ ℔ bbl, the lowest point it has touched since the opening of navigation, a decline of 12@12½c ℔ bbl during the past week. Refined easy; sales reported at 14½, delivered in Baltimore, equal to about 12½ on cars here.

The Barrel market continues quiet and unchanged: $1,15@1,20 for countries and $1,30 for city make—extra large size offering at $1,35.

Chicago Provisions Market—Weekly Review.

CHICAGO, April 5.—The bulk of the trading may be attributed to the speculative interest, though a good share of the trading in April option was equivalent to cash lots. Under the impression that a good share of the product has been centered in strong hands during the past week or ten days, operators in many instances have changed their position in the trade, and the competition to a great extent resulted in the material enhancement of values. The light offerings of cash product also attracted considerable attention, and assisted in maintaining prices. The receipts of hogs were comparatively light, and of poor quality—and purchasers of heavy averages were necessarily compelled to pay extreme prices for the few lots offering to fill their orders. The bad condition of the roads in the country may retard the movement of hogs, but the general opinion prevails that the hog crop has been sold very close, and light receipts are anticipated during the next two or three months. On the other hand, occasional operators express the opinion that the high prices ruling will naturally increase the production, though the scarcity of corn in some sections may interfere with this calculation. The high prices ruling for corn is also referred to, and arguments are presented to show that the product cannot be manufactured for less than current prices. The speculative demand in mess pork is understood to be confined to operators in all sections, while the inquiry for cash lots is moderate. The stock here is being gradually reduced, while the stocks in Eastern markets show very little accumulation, the purchases on behalf of the West Indies and Southern markets being quite liberal, and shipments going forward rapidly. The movement in lard exhibits considerable strength—the confidence in lower prices on account of the increased production inducing operators to sell heavy during the past month or two for future delivery, and the dealers on the "long" side have taken advantage to center the product and hold it off the market, thereby compelling the "shorts" to settle their contracts at advanced prices. The export movement in this article continues quite liberal, and the aggregate for the season is now reported to be only about 5,000,000 pounds below that of last year. The trading in meats has improved wonderfully during the past week, and prices show a material improvement. Parties who had contracts outstanding for April delivery experienced some difficulty in obtaining sufficient quantities to fill their outstanding orders, while the purchases for May and June delivery were larger than usual at this season of the year. Chicago operators have purchased large quantities of meats in other packing points during the week. The demand for Western cities is quite urgent—dealers anticipating a heavy demand during the spring months from parties emigrating to the gold fields. The inquiry from the Southern markets is somewhat restricted, owing to the recent advance in prices, and orders are generally for small lots—indicating that dealers are only purchasing to supply present wants. The shipment of all kinds of products during the week were quite liberal—the low rates of freight to the Eastern markets no doubt inducing the movement to some extent at the present time. Some pork has been forwarded East, which will be overhauled—the surplus weight compensating for the freight. The receipts from country points have been moderate—the arrivals of all kinds showing a decrease.—Inter-Ocean.

J. KABERNAGLE, Sergeant, Signal Service, U. S. A.

THE river continues to recede steadily at this point, with twelve feet in the channel last evening. Weather clear and pleasant, and business at the landing rather better, although it is not active by any means, as compared with what it usually is at this season of the year.

THE Rover and barges are filling up steadily for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi.

THE Paragon was to leave St. Louis for New Orleans on Sunday night loaded flat down.

THE Cairo Bulletin says the great towboat Ajax left for St. Louis on Friday with a tow of coal.

THE Bossier and Flirt are the only steamboats in the hands of the United States Marshal at New Orleans.

THE Carrie Brooks for Zanesville, and the R. W. Skillinger for Ironton departed; also a number of towboats.

THE hull of the Ella is uninjured, and Capt. T. F. Eckert estimates her damage at less than five thousand dollars.

THE Robt. Mitchell has gone out of the river with the banner trip of the season. She refused 400 tons below Evansville.

THE Kountz steamer Mollie Moore arrived at Camden, on the Ouachita, on Friday morning, and delivered the largest cargo ever delivered there by a single boat.

THE Iron Mountain from St. Louis, with three barges of ore and one of fire clay, and the Coal City arrived from Cincinnati with a tow of empty barges arrived.

FOLLOWING boats departed yesterday with tows of coal: Wm Stone, John Penney; Sam. Millar, Charley McDonald, Boaz, J. S. McDonald, John Dippold and Sam. Parker.

THE fine fine steamer Exchange, Capt. Sam. Shuman, is announced for Cincinnati forthwith, and passengers and shippers should make a note of this and be governed accordingly.

A TELEGRAM from Louisville, of April 5th, says:—The Leopard, from St. Louis, with a tow of pig iron, came up through the canal, and transferred her trip to the Diamond, for Pittsburgh.

THE fine steamer Mollie Ebert, Captain F. Y. Batchelor, is announced for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi; she goes clear through. Persons going west or families emigrating, should bear this in mind.

IT is reported that a former well-known steamboat clerk, but who of late years was engaged in business in Allegheny, has in consequence of financial irregularities, found it necessary to leave for parts unknown.

A CAIRO dispatch says:—Angela McBride and James Dougherty, pilots, got into an altercation this forenoon, in which Dougherty received several serious cuts in the face and body from a penknife in the hands of McBride. Parties who witnessed the affray claim that the cutting was in self-defense. Dougherty's wounds are dangerous, but not thought to be fatal.

THE St. Louis Democrat of Monday says: The Ironsides went down to the ore pile on Saturday evening and leaves to-morrow for Pittsburgh, with one of the best trips of the season. Dunlap will follow in a few days......Capt. S. K. Green, who has for three years past been engaged in selling coal for the Cairo City Coal Company here, retired from the business.

THE Sioux City Journal of Tuesday says: At Fort Randall the river was open last evening on both shores, and no crossing on the ice was attempted. At Fort Sully the water was deep enough on top of the ice to float a yawl, and rising rapidly; but the ice was firm. The river was reported open opposite Yankton at 8 o'clock last evening, but the ice was still firm above and below. River open at Little Sioux.

THE new steamer J. L. Rhoads, made her trial trip yesterday afternoon, and we are glad to learn that she performed to the entire satisfaction of all concerned. The Rhoads is one of the largest boats on this end of the river, and a big carrier. She was built for the times, and we think the hopes of her owners and builders will be fully realized. Capt. James M. Vandergrift will have command, and Mr. John C. Fisher will be in charge of the office.

A ST. LOUIS dispatch, of April 5th, says:—The Ironsides and barges leave for Pittsburgh to-morrow, with two thousand tons of ore. At a meeting of the Keokuk and Northern Line Packet Company, this afternoon, the following officers were elected: Wm. F. Davidson, W. H. Campbell, John Kyle, W. E. Burr, N. Millikin, T. H. Griffith, P. S. Davidson, Wm. Rhodes and D. Hunkins. The election of officers will take place to-morrow. As a majority of the Board are Davidson men, it is a settled fact that the Commodore will be the next President of the Keokuk Northern Line.

THE St. Louis Globe of Sunday says:—The Ironsides left last evening for Sulphur Springs, with one barge loaded with assorted freight. She will leave the ore dump Tuesday, with four more barges, loaded with ore, for Pittsburgh. Capt. Abe. Whittaker's Fearless is en route from Pittsburgh for this port. Look out for Isaac about next Saturday. The new steamer John L. Rhoads, will be completed at Pittsburgh this week, and leave for this place about next Saturday. There has been shipped and is now engaged to go this week 1,400 tons of freight for Fort Benton, a larger amount than has gone from this port for two years previous, and there are several buyers now in the market, which will swell the amount to as much more.

A LOUISVILLE telegram says of Goslee's death: He had been called to sign a paper just as the train started, and while attempting to get on the ladies' car, he had his hand on the rail when his foot was tripped by an obstruction on the platform, and he was thrown under the wheels and crushed to death instantly, and terribly mutilated. He was born in Oldham county, Ky.; was fifty-nine years old, leaving a wife and many relatives. Captain Goslee commenced his career on the river as pilot on the Potosi, in the St. Louis and New Orleans trade, Capt. Joe Conway, with Alf. Kennett, clerk, in 1831. He was pilot of the St Louis in 1834, the Big Missouri in 1841, and captain of the Eclipse, built here for Captain Moore, in 1844. He then commanded the Autocrat, built for the J. M. White's machinery, and then the Geo. Collier, in the Memphis trade.

YESTERDAY'S Cincinnati Commercial says:—The Benton, from Pittsburgh to Fort Benton, arrived at 3 P. M., and departed last night. E. A. Williamson and Amos Gardner are her pilots. The Nellie Speer, with a tow of coal, from Pittsburgh, arrived. The Robert Peebles, for Ashland, and the Baltic, for Pittsburgh, with empty barges, passed up......The Baltic passed up from Madison to Pittsburgh.—a tow of empty barges......Mr. James Rees, Sr., and other excursionists, from Pittsburgh, came down on the Granite State to Portsmouth, where they took passage on the Fleetwood, arriving here last night. The party make the round trip to New Orleans on the Exporter......Captain J. H. Triplett is here to purchase a small steamer for the Evansville and Owensboro trade......Mr. N. J. Bigley, the coal merchant, en route from Charleston, W. Va., was on 'Change yesterday.

Mr Schmertz's "Rosenthal."

This masterpiece of art by Rosenthal, of Munich, Bavaria, owned by Mr. W. E. Schmertz, at the East End, is on exhibition at Mr. Baker's atelier, on Fifth avenue. Mr. S. paid one thousand dollars for this famous picture, and next to "Elaime," of the above mentioned artist, is considered one of his finest productions. Mr. Schmertz does a very generous and appropriate thing in allowing it to go on public exhibition. The picture, we learn, was on exhibition last night at Mr. Linford's studio, and was much admired by the members of the art society and a large number of invited guests.

The Wilkinsburg School Question—A Subscription Taken up.

Another meeting was held at Wilkinsburgh on Monday night to consider the question of keeping up the schools at that point, until the regular vacation in the city. The general tone of the meeting was in favor of having the schools continue and to this end a subscription was taken up, which resulted in a collection of four hundred and twenty-five dollars for this purpose. A committee was appointed to take the matter in charge and to visit the different residents of the ward to see what amount could be raised during the present week. Another meeting is to be held on Friday night to hear the report of said committee.

Fires Last Night.

There were two alarms of fire last night. The first, from box 21, was caused by a slight fire at the chair factory of George Rebman, at the corner of Cherry and Strawberry alleys, between Grant and Smithfield streets. A candle fell among a lot of papers and ignited them but they were extinguished at once, and before any damage worth speaking of had been done.

The second alarm, from box 13, was caused by a fire in the house at No. 66 Market street and which is occupied by Mrs. Grogan as a bakery. A young man named McLaughlin, who occupies a room in the third story, retired and left a lamp burning on a table near his bedside. Falling asleep and becoming restless it is supposed he upset the lamp, which exploded and set fire to the bed clothing. His limbs were very seriously burned before assistance arrived.

Hot Breakfasts for the Poor.

We have in this city and Allegheny, several lodges of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, and they have large numbers of members and are in thriving circumstances. One of the members, Mr. Hildebrand, hands us the following statement of what is being done by the order in Philadelphia, as suggestive of a form of usefulness that may very properly be developed here: "The Philadelphia Lodge, No. 73, Ancient Order of United Workmen, have been giving hot breakfasts to the poor, dispensing them on Sunday morning, since January 31. Relief has been afforded to 1,725 persons, of whom 399 have been induced to sign the pledge. Next Sunday will be the last one this season." The breakfasts are provided by means of donations, and have been not only successful, but very popular. They serve to make known the active benevolence of the order, and do good in many ways. It is late in the season for beginning an enterprise of this kind here, but the idea is worthy of being cherished for future use.

Death of Rev. E. M. Williams.

It is with feelings of unusual sadness that we record this morning the death of Rev. E. M. Williams, a young and promising minister of the Pittsburgh Annual Conference. The deceased, at the last session of the Conference held at Alliance, was ordained Elder, and was transferred from Manor Station to Donegal, but upon his return to his home at Manor Station he was taken sick and was unable to remove to his new appointment. He continued to suffer—his disease being typhoid pneumonia—but hopes were entertained of his recovery until within a few days ago. Last Saturday his uncle, Rev. Edward Williams, pastor of the Union Centenary M. E. Church, at Sharpsburg, was sent for, and a consultation of physicians was held, but it was of no avail, and death came yesterday morning.

The deceased was the son of Rev. Dr. John Williams, and was a young man of brilliant parts. He had only been in the ministry a few years, but was making his way upward and was looked upon as one of the rising young men of the Conference. He was a young gentleman of very agreeable address, a warm-hearted and generous companion and friend, and a man of good education and fine mental abilities. He was devoted to his calling, and had been successful in leading many into Christian walks and work. His death was so sudden that not all of his friends could gather round his bed side, but the summons came to one who was prepared for the transfer to another world. His death—thus so early in life, and just when opportunities for highest usefulness seemed to be opening out before him—will cause general sorrow wherever he was known, and the widow and bereaved relatives will have the sincere sympathy of many friends.

THE KEYSTONE MILLS.

They Resume Work This Morning—Reports that Others Will Follow.

It was reported last evening that the Keystone mills, located near Soho, would resume work this morning at the old rates, on the sliding scale. Fires were placed in the furnaces last night and the works will commence operations to-day. It is understood that the men go to work on an agreement to the effect that in consideration of the rates paid, either party is bound to give the other thirty days notice before the contract can be dissolved. For any violation of the same, the party so violating it, shall forfeit one months wages. In case this resumption on the part of these mills are permanent, it is said the Keystone Bridge Company will also resume in full, and that a large force of men will be put to work. Still another report was current to the effect that Park, Painter & Co., of the South Side, would put their men to work soon. The puddlers in that locality were quite jubilant yesterday, and in a number of cases expressed the belief that they would soon have employment. Whether there will be a general resumption or not is, as yet, a question of doubt, which will only be settled by future developments.

RELIGIOUSLY INCLINED.

William Murray Asks for a Bible.

The law of this Commonwealth is such that after a man is condemned to death, he is doomed to solitary confinement and can only be visited by persons having a permit from the Quarterly Committee of the Prison Board. Even the jail chaplain and the spiritual advisors of the criminal are required to obtain these permits.

It will be remembered that on last Saturday Murray and Meyers were sentenced to be executed by Judge Ewing of the Quarter Sessions Court, and since that time both the prisoners have been locked up in seperate cells, apart from each other, and have not been allowed any company. Ever since they have been in prison Murray has manifested but little concern as to his spiritual welfare, and has been represented as a disbeliever in a future state. This has been a source of much anxiety upon the part of some who have taken a special interest in his spiritual welfare. For the past few weeks, it is said, he has taken but little part in the religious exercises which have been held in the jail. Since his solitary confinement, however, he has asked for a Bible, and is now carefully perusing its contents. He occupies a good portion of his time in reading it, and seems to be inquiring into its teachings, which is a source of encouragement to those who have hope of his repentance.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS.

Meetings of the Various Committees of Allegheny Councils Last Night—What Was Done.

THE FINANCE COMMITTEE.

The Finance Committee of Allegheny Councils met last evening in the City Treasurer's office, Mr. N. H. Voegtly, presiding, and Controller James Brown, acting in the capacity of Secretary.

The matter of the petition of Bernard Gray, asking that the sum of $1,232, be refunded to him. This amount being the assessment levied through an error on his property for the opening and improving of Jackson street, and as he has failed to pay the assessment, a lien has been filed against it, and as it will require this sum to remove the lien, and he is unable to pay the amount, he therefore asks that the city pay the claim.

After a lengthy discussion in regard to the matter it was agreed to recommend to Councils that the sum of $600 be paid him, and that all costs in the case be paid by the city.

It was agreed to report an ordinance to Councils authorizing the refunding of $255 to the "Little Sisters of the Poor," this being the amount of tax paid by them, and under the provisions of an act of Assembly, they are exempt from all city taxes.

City Solicitor Rodgers reported that he had conferred with the authorities of the Pleasant Valley Railroad Company in regard to the payment of taxes on their cars. They are willing to pay the city tax on five of their cars. Report received.

The bond of the Franklin Savings Bank, as one of the City Depositories was approved.

The bond of the Allegheny Real Estate Bank was referred back to them to be made out in the name of the Third National Bank, as that is now the name of that institution.

The ordinance authorizing the issuing of $25,000 of sewer bonds for the purpose of paying for the building of a sewer on McClure avenue, which had been referred to the committee by Councils, was then taken up and considerable discussion was elicited. The question of approving the ordinance and recommending its passage was lost.

Controller Brown then submitted a statement showing the condition of the accounts of the various city officers and collectors of taxes on April 1st, (published in another column.)

Report received.

He also submitted a statement showing the bonds sold by him since the beginning of the year. He reports that $15,000 Troy Hill Road bonds and $40,000 sewer bonds had been sold, realizing the sum of $55,328.77, which amount had been paid to the Treasurer.

He also reported the redemption of $3,000 Municipal 6 per cent. bonds and one $500 Manchester bond. Report received.

It was agreed to report an ordinance for the refunding of taxes to Mrs. Page.

It was decided to allow Mr. John Fuchs a reduction of 25 per cent. of his debt of $400 to the city.

Adjourned.

The Park Commission.

The Allegheny Park Commission held their regular semi-monthly meeting last evening, Mr. James Park presiding, and Mr. R. T. White acting as Secretary.

Bills to the amount of $657.91, including the pay-rolls were approved.

The following communication was taken up:

PITTSBURGH, PA., April 5, 1875.

To the Allegheny Park Commission:

GENTLEMEN: I am instructed by the Board of Directors of the Tradesman's Industrial Institute to apply to your honorable body for a sufficient amount of ground in such of the parks of Allegheny as may be determined on, for the purpose of erecting a building for an Industrial Exposition, during the current year. Also, to inquire if we may retain our building on it for a term of years.

We do not positively determine to hold the exposition in Allegheny, but make this application that we may know if the land is available, in case we do determine to locate there. We propose to erect a building 250x750 feet. We are anxious for a prompt reply.

I am very respectfully yours,
J. VANNOTE.

On motion the Commitee on Grounds was authorized to purchase twenty-four bird houses, to be placed in the Park, for the sum of $48.75.

Harry Reynolds and Christ Zeither were elected Park Policemen, to go on duty at once.

The matter of erecting a small stand building on the Park grounds, to be rented out as a refreshment stand, was referred to the committee to ascertain the cost.

Adjourned.

The Ordinance Committee.

The Ordinance Committee of Allegheny Councils met last evening, Mr. L. P. Stone in the chair.

It was stated that certain parties were engaged selling horse meat in Allegheny, and that under the present laws there was no way to put a stop to it. On motion, the chairman and the City Solicitor were appointed to draw up an ordinance for presentation in Councils to-morrow evening, prohibiting the sale of horse meat and imposing a penalty for a violatation of the ordinance.

The petition of a number of grocers, asking that the peddling of groceries and produce in the streets be prohibited. It was agreed to report an ordinance requiring such peddlers to pay a license for the privilege of peddling such articles.

It was also decided to report an ordinance fixing the license for bill posters at $50 per annum.

Adjourned.

The Butchers' Run District.

The Survey Committee of Allegheny Councils met yesterday afternoon, and proceeded in a body to make an examination of the proposed location of Munroe street, from Centre street to Ohio street. This street is intended to take the place of the proposed Valley street, which was before the Councils last autumn.

The entire vicinity was closely examined by the committee, and a number of the property holders interviewed in regard to the matter. No action whatever was taken, but nearly all of the members of the committee expressed themselves in favor of the proposed street.

RELIEVING THE POOR.

Report of the Allegheny Relief Society for March.

The following report of the distribution of funds, provisions, &c., to the poor and needy, during the mouth of March, is made by the Relief Society of Allegheny City:

We assisted 376 families, giving 7,275 bushels coal, 2,685 pounds flour, 105 pounds coffee, 18 pounds tea, 54 pounds sugar, 39 pounds rice, 22 gallons molasses, 2½ bushels potatoes, 2½ bushels beans, 7 bushels corn meal, 34 yards flannel, 16 yards muslin, 93 yards calico, 61 pairs shoes, 104 partly worn garments, 50 new garments, 52 pounds soap, and 130 visits were reported.

This month closes our work for the winter. To say it has been arduous, would feebly express the labor. Those who have condemned the benefactions of this society, let them remember while they sat at home in their easy chairs, we were trudging through the lanes and alleys, the thermometer being below zero, sometimes with snow and slush ankle deep, to ascertain whether the applicants for aid were worthy or not; if we have been deceived, the field is open for others who may be more competent; in many instances suffering children received assistance who had unworthy parents; is it right for us to visit the sins of the fathers upon the children?

From the tableaux our society realized $588.00, for which we desire especially to tender our thanks to Mrs. Jos. Albree and her co-workers, to the grace and beauty of the performers, to Mr. J. J. Donnell for attention to financial affairs, to Mr. F. Lohman for artistic taste, to Mr. J. M. Hale for sale of tickets, and other kind friends, and last, but by no means least, to the Liedertafel Society, who so kindly rendered such delightful music.

Donations received during the winter from annual subscribers, $2,570. Brewer fuel fund, 5,650 bushels of coal; Burchfield & Co., 2,000 bushels of coal; S. S. Marvin, 500 bushels nut coal; Samuel Greer, 150 bushels coal; Allegheny Mail, 100 bushels coal; W. M. Stewart, 100 bushels coal; Mr. Noble, 100 bushels coal; Mr. Craig, 100 bushels coal; F. M. Blair, 100 bushels coal; sewing machines from Mr. Thompson Bell, valued at $960; Public Safety Fund, $255.95; proceeds concert, $232.75; Thanksgiving collections from St. Andrew's church, Pittsburgh, $163.75; First U. Co., $80 00; Leetsdale Church Society, $53 00; Mrs. Haworth, $24 00; Second Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh, $15 00; dry goods from Arbuthnot & Shannon, $34 11; Thos. Jamison, $19 40; Wm. Semple, $11 66; Robert Swan, $20 00; Mrs. Rhodes, $5 00; Mr. Moon, $4 00; Kitchen & Beggs, $7 00; 1 pair blankets from Mr. Holderman; soap from Mr. Walker, $6 00; McCurdy & McGinnis, 200 cwt. flour; Gilmore & Co., bread, $30; Arbuckles Bros., 100 lbs coffee; proceeds of spelling match, Sixth ward, Allegheny, $18 75; spelling match First Christian Church, Allegheny, $20; Real Estate Trust Company, $5. MISS M. S. STEWART, Secretary pro tem.

Eating and Living.

So closely related are eating and living that in some languages the verb, to eat has the same form as the verb, to live. Now, if you wish to eat to live, that is, not to kill yourself by unwholesome cookery, patronize a Dining Room where close and careful circumspection is given to the manner of preparing the viands as well as to the quality of the edibles themselves. And do not for a moment harbor the thought that because Mr. S. T. Niel, of the Lafayette Hall Dining Rooms, offers you a dinner for thirty-five cents that therefore it must be a second or third rate dinner. The very reverse of this is the truth, as you will find by partaking of one of these same dinners. Drop in and test the quality of a good dinner for thirty-five cents.

Wisdom.

The propriety of reducing the price of goods, so as to harmonize with the depression of business and values, has been demonstrated at the Boston One Price Clothing House, No. 95 Smithfield street. This house has a splendid stock of ready-made goods for spring and summer wear, which has been marked down to bottom prices. Excellence, cheapness and satisfaction guaranteed. Go and see what good things can come out of Boston.

····The trial trip of the steamer John L. Rhoads to Seven Mile Island and return, yesterday, was quite satisfactory to owners and officers. The only cause for complaint consisted in the fact that notwithstanding the river was in good navigable condition, there was no water or anything else on board the boat whereby the excursionists could quench their thirst. Nevertheless the excursion was an immense success.

....A few months ago Benjamin Bradford, driver of the Mechanic engine of the South Side, was thrown from his seat on the engine to the street as he was going to a fire, which resulted in one of his ears being almost severed from his head. As the wound healed the orifice closed up, and yesterday Drs. ····Yesterday evening our Jewish fellow citizens celebrated the feast of the Passover—in commemoration of the deliverance of Jews from Egyptian bondage. The feast of the Passover, among the more orthodox Jews, is a sacrifice made of a yearling lamb, the blood of which is sprinkled on the doorposts, while the flesh is roasted and seasoned with bitter herbs. The family in partaking of the meat, no atom of which is allowed to be thrown away, stand around the table dressed as if about to start on a long journey. The meal begins with drinking a cup of wine and water. The hands of the company are then washed, and the flesh of the lamb is placed on the table with cakes of unleavened bread, and a thick sauce, composed of dates, raisins, figs and vinegar. Four cups of wine are drawn by all, old and young, the last being the cup of Hallel, prior to the drinking of which a hymn, called the "Lesser Hallel," is chanted.

An Address to Merchants and Manufacturers.

The insatiable tooth of time, as well as the march of improvement, demand that old things be made knew, and structures and buildings unfit and uncouth in appearance be remodeled to conform to the requirements of the age. Scarcely an individual possessing a house, or its occupancy, but needs more or less remodeling, refitting and repairing, but is deterred from such change because many carpenters charge as much for a small amount of repairs as to build a house. We are happy to inform all such that Sam'l Wood, Jr., corner of Ninth street and Penn avenue, is a workman of superior skill and ability and one in whom they can rely for the faithful performance of every promise. He uses nothing less than the very best material, employs only skilled and competent workmen and makes but a fair and living price for his services. As you value your pocket, comfort and satisfaction—patronize him.

Dissolution of Partnership.

As will be seen by notice in another column the partnership heretofore existing between H. C. King and H. M. Caldwell, under the firm name of Caldwell & Co., has been dissolved by mutual consent, Mr. King retiring. The business will be continued by Mr. Caldwell, at No. 205 Liberty street, where he will be pleased to see all the old patrons and happy to do anything in his power to gratify their wishes, or to be of service to them in any way. He is empowered to collect all accounts due to and to pay all debts owing the late firm.

Constitutional Growlers.

Did you ever hear any one complain of the quality or prices of goods purchased at the cheap and popular shoe house of R. Taggart, No. 129 Federal street, Allegheny city? Yes, about ten years ago an aged lady said she had paid two cents more for a pair of shoes than she would have paid had she bought them at auction. Poor woman, her disease was the chronic "growls." Taggart, leaves no cause for complaint in the quality of his boots and shoes, and surely none in their prices, as no other house in the two cities dare sell so low as he does. Boots and shoes to fit the feet—not to pinch, cramp and murder them, making business for the corn and bunion doctor.

ALLEGHENY SCHOOL CONTROLLERS.

Regular Meeting Last Night—The Cost of Evening Schools—Reports from Committees—The Eleventh Ward Confirmation Question—Educational Statistics.

A regular monthly meeting of the Board of School Controllers of Allegheny city was held last night. In the absence of President King, Mr. D. L. Smith was called to the chair. The session was opened with prayer by Professor Eaton. The following members answered present at roll call: Messrs. Ashworth, Arrot, Brown, Benney, Beilstein, Eaton, Foerster, Frazier, Forrester, Grubbs, Golden, Hobson, Hanny, Hemphill, Haworth, Hamilton, Malcolm Hay, Robert Hay, Jackson, Launegan, Lea, Lorenz, R. C. Miller, P. H. Miller, McCance, McNaugher, Oliver, Patterson, Park, Poppenger, Ritenour, Richards, Straub, Smith, Stewart, Slack, Spangler, Sutton, Torrence, Trimble, Young, Yeager.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Hobson, from the Finance Committee, reported that the duplicate of Robert Reno, collector of school taxes for the Eighth ward, had been settled by the payment of $1,236.18 in cash and an exoneration of the balance, amounting to $215.84. The report was received and the exonerations in Mr. Reno's duplicate were allowed, and in the case of Conrad Deitrich, of the Sixth ward, $9.16 overpaid tax was ordered to be refunded.

Mr. R. C. Miller, from the Library Committee, reported that the circulation of books from the 1st to the 20th of March numbered 3,546. From March 20, to April 1st, no books were taken out. The number of books purchased during March was 163, and the number donated was 5. The report was received and filed. Warrants amounting to $90 were ordered to be drawn in favor of Mr. Miller for the payment of the premium on insurance to the amount of $6,000 for three years on the books in the Library.

Mr. Miller also submitted the report of the Committee on Evening Schools. It showed that the enrollment during the sixty-five nights the schools were in operation was 968; average attendance 553. The whole cost of teaching was $1,932. 72 The cost by wards was as follows:

First ward	$140 30
Second ward	212 50
Third ward	362 50
Fourth ward	300 00
Fifth ward	159 12
Sixth ward	225 00
Seventh ward	225 00
Eighth ward	50 00
Ninth ward	128 40
Colored school	150 00
Total	$1,952 72

The total expense was $2,617 03. A number of changes in the rules for the government of night schools were laid over for one month.

The next business before the Board was the question of the confirmation and payment of salary of an additional teacher in the Eleventh ward, which was referred at the last meeting to the Committee on Teachers and Salaries. The chairman of the committee was not present last night, but Mr. Patterson said it had met and decided to report negatively. On motion of Mr. Hay the committee was discharged from further consideration of the matter, and the question was again brought before the Board by a motion made by Mr. Slack, that Miss Boardman, the teacher referred to, be confirmed. After some discussion the ayes and nays were called, and the motion was carried by a vote of 26 ayes to 15 nays. A resolution was then adopted that the lady be paid from the time of her election by the local board.

City Superintendent Davis submitted the following report concerning the schools for the month of March:

No. of pupils enrolled	8,310
No. in average attendance	7,361
Per cent. of attendance	88
No. of pupils in primary department	4,865
" " " medium "	1,972
No. of pupils in grammar and high school dep't	1,473
No. of teachers	184
" " parents visits	931
" " directors "	285
" " Superintendents visits	43

The Secretary read a letter from the First ward board requesting the appointment of a committee of three, to act in conjunction with a committee from the local board, in meeting the Finance Committee of Councils with the object of taking such measures as may be deemed necessary to recover the money due the local and Central boards from A. Bailie, the delinquent tax collector. The communication was received and filed, and the chair appointed Messrs. Hobson, Dunlap and Straub as the committee.

The pay rolls for March amounting to $11,255 were approved, and the Board adjourned.

Fuel and Lime.

Messrs. Huntsman, Miller & Co., so long and so favorably known in the coal business, have opened, for the convenience of their patrons, an office at No. 47 Federal street, Allegheny, where they will receive orders (and promptly fill the same) for Anthracite and Bituminous Coals. They are enabled, on account of certain facilities and advantages which they enjoy, to offer their customers all kinds of coal at more favorable rates than can be obtained in the two cities. Having made arrangements with a Lime Company of Beaver county they will also furnish contractors and others with a very superior quality of lime at greatly reduced rates. Messrs. Huntsman, Miller & Co. are fully entitled to the public confidence and patronage, and to such as require fuel and lime we cheerfully commend them.

RUMORS OF WAR.

A Flutter in Oleaginous Circles—Rumors of Approaching Conflicts—The Columbia Conduit Company and the Refiners—Further Interesting Developments Anticipated.

For several days past there has been a flutter of excitement in oil trade circles concerning certain movements in which the Refiners and the Columbia Conduit Company seem equally interested. The excitement commenced a few days ago, when it was announced that the Columbia Company had compromised with the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the interest in the matter was augmented by the fact that about this time, some of the stock in the Columbia Company changed hands.

The situation of affairs as is now understood, seems to be that some dissatisfaction has existed, for a while past, in the Columbia Company, which has led to something like a revolution, and many of the leading stockholders retired. Among these, however, Dr. Hostetter was not numbered; he held on, having full faith in the enterprise and being determined to see it through. The stock seems to have been purchased at good prices, but the buyers have not been made public. In one instance,—the sale being made on Thursday and the stock being the property of Mr. Barton, a son of the former Solicitor of the company,—the price paid was ten per cent. above the par value, and a fee thrown in.

Another certainty in the matter is that the company has made some arrangement by which the pipe line can be completed to their tanks at Montrose, and that the oil will likely be flowing into the tanks in a few days. The "toll," however, which is ten cents per barrel, is not to be paid directly to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, but goes to the Empire Transportation Company, which ships largely over the Allegheny Valley Railroad. It is thus indirectly a royalty to that road, in lieu of the probable loss of oil transportation, brought about by the completion of the pipe line.

In this connection it is also stated—and the rumor seems to have some basis of fact—that the Columbia Coompany is negotiating for the purchase of the property of the Central Refining Company. It seems to be the intention of the "Columbia" to center operations in Pittsburgh and to refine oil here, as well as ship the crude and refined oil to the East. If a large refinery can be purchased it is probable, judging from the present outlook, that refining operations will be inaugurated without delay.

It is just here that the gaiter uncomfortably presses the corns of the refiners; for if the Columbia Company purchases a refinery that gives evidence of its desire to monopolize the trade. It will have a tremendous advantage by securing oil through the pipe line at a merely nominal rate of freight, while all the other refiners will thus be pushed to the wall. The refiners are exceedingly hostile to any such "grab game," as they style it. The complaint is that they have labored hard to aid the pipe line company, and that if there is any attempt made to go back on them, the fight will be a lively one.

Another statement that obtains credence in the best informed circles is that the Columbia Company has also "another string to its bow." In case it fails to secure refining facilities in Pittsburgh, it still can hold to an agreement which it has with Mr. Camden, one of the directors af the Baltimore & Ohio Road, for the shipment of crude oil to Baltimore at reduced rates. Mr. Camden has a contract with the Baltimore & Ohio Road, it is said, which will enable him to carry out his contract with the Columbia Company at rates which will really totally rule out all other shippers. It is well known that such a contract was made, but it is rumored that within the past few days it has been broken; as to the basis for this latter rumor, we could obtain no definite information.

The situation, as will thus be seen, is quite an interesting one for the oil trade. It is really a renewal of the fight to keep up the refining interests of Pittsburgh, and to maintain a competition in the trade. It is not to be wondered at then that there should be a flutter among refiners, and that further developments are looked to with the very liveliest interest. It is probable the whole matter will be fully unearthed in a few days; but in the meantime the contestants on both sides are busily engaged in "laying plans."

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

"The Deluge" will be the attraction at the Opera House during the entire week. The management have been at no little expense in presenting it in good style, and a run of less than a week would probably not prove beneficial to the treasury. The literary part of the play is not at all of the highest order, and demands no consideration, but in the scenery, the Kiralfys and the Faust family centres all the interest, though a person of ordinary powers of observation might be disposed to ask in what way the dancing of the Kiralfys, and the acrobatic feats of the Fausts can be connected with the Deluge, or the loss of Paradise. They are modern side issues introduced into an antediluvian play for the purpose of adding greater charm and interest to it, and that they do so is unquestionable, for their performances are received by the audience with marked satisfaction, and they over top the play itself. The glittering armor of many of the characters makes quite a brilliant display, and the effect is materially heightened by the strong glare of numberless gas jets and the flashing of red fire. Each act has its specialty. In the first is the Octapus and Turtle dance, and in the second the Demon Dance. In the fourth act the march of the Amazons, in which the ballet is largely represented, never fails to win applause. The host is marshaled by Miss Katie Baker, who is resplendent from head to foot in gorgeous armor. The battalion quite skilfully executed some intricate movements. This is followed by the Kiralfys, two sisters and a brother, who "trip the light fantastic" to the gratification of their auditors. Next comes the Faust family, three in all, and in the part allotted to them lies the best of the evening's entertainment. Some of their feats are astonishing, and the agility they display is marvellous. They have made themselves quite popular. The last act is brief, and includes "The Deluge." It is likely that the utilization of water as an accessory to a dramatic production was never attempted in this city before. The cast of the play is as follows:

Satan	Mr. B. R. Graham
Adam, Japhet,	Mr. Edwin Price
Cain	Mr. T. F. Egbert
Tubal Cain	Mr. H. N. Wilson
Moloch, Chamois, Beliel, Beelzebub, (Satan's Conspirators)	Mr. J. Murray; Mr. B. Turner; Mr. T. J. Walker; Mr. A. Johnson
Boatman	Mr. W. Standish
Old Man	Mr. S. Hicks
Young Man	Mr. S. Collins

Abel	Miss Katie Baker
Gabriel	Miss Amy Thompson
Young Girl	Miss Willa Brong
Spirit of Mercy	Miss B. Willa
Sin	Miss Emily Delmar

Demons, Angels, &c.

The Centennial Tea Party.

The series of Tea Parties to be given by the ladies of this city, in aid of the approaching Centennial celebration in Philadelphia, commences this evening at Library Hall. The decoration of the stage, auditorium and lobby, which was a contract of no small dimensions, is almost completed. It will be finished to-day, and by to-night everything will be in readiness for the reception of the large crowd which, from every indication, will certainly be on hand. The programme which the ladies have arranged announces that at seven o'clock Independence bell will "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land, and to all the inhabitants thereof." Each of the thirteen peals will be followed by music. The address of welcome will then be delivered by Hon. James H. Hopkins. The music every evening will be furnished by the Germania Orchestra. To name all the attractions which will add interest and charm to the occasion would occupy more space than we have at our disposal this morning, and we have only to say that all should go and see for themselves.

Academy of Music.

"Girofle—Girofla," the new opera bouff of Lecocq's, will be produced on Friday and Saturday nights, and at a matinee on Saturday, at the Academy of Music. It has raised a sensation in the musical world, and will no doubt be well received here.

Trimble's Varieties.

The bill here every night is a good one, and includes the new Ware combination, which Mr. Aims has brought on. It is meeting with eminent success.

To the Interest of All.

It is the duty of retail dealers, at all times, to scan closely the character and facilities of the wholesale house from which they receive their supplies. And especially is this true at this particular period when hourly fluctuations render the price of goods so variable, as it is not presumed retailers can scrutinize the market so closely as to be posted on every change, and must therefore depend to a great extent on the judgment, honesty and faithful representation of the wholesale dealer. And just here we would say that the Wholesale Dry Goods and Notion House of McCandless, Jamison & Co., No. 103 Wood street, is one that has established itself in the confidence of its many patrons by reason of its excellent line of goods, its system of fair dealing, and courteous and careful attention to the wants of its customers. Their sales being immense, precludes the idea of any soiled or antedated goods being kept on hand, and the daily purchases of this house insure to the dealer the newest goods and the latest styles. One feature alone should commend their establishment to any one, which is that of a resident buyer in the Eastern market, who devotes his time and attention to the securing of goods at the most reasonable figures, and in the most seasonable styles. This and many other facilities possessed by this house, make it a most desirable, popular and profitable house for the patronage of the retailer.

Goe & Co., have removed to No. 19 Federal street Allegheny City, where parties can at all times find a general and elegant assortment of Saddles, Harness, Trunks, Valises and Traveling Bags, of the best quality and at prices to accord with the times. The Great Tribunal.

Public opinion is the great tribunal by which the value of all discoveries is judged. Its favorable verdict long ago stamped Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as the leading invigorant and alterative of the age, and the truthfulness of that decision is constantly receiving fresh corroboration in the shape of results the most complete and satisfactory, accomplished in our very midst. Tributes to its efficacy as a remedy for indigestion, constipation, nervous complaints, sleeplessness, general debility, rheumatism and kidney disorders pour in from every quarter; physicians emphatically commend it as a remedy for most inorganic maladies, and the press indorses the dictum of the profession. Thus the popularity of the reigning tonic stimulant of America is constantly widening, despite the invectives fulminated against spirituous preparations by the venders of mock temperance bitters, which the public some time since discovered to be fermented rubbish, and the sales of which are rapidly on the wane.

MYSTERY SOLVED!

The Great Secret of the Wonderful

SUCCESS OF VEGETINE

It strikes at the root of disease by purifying the blood, restoring the liver and kidneys to healthy action, invigorating the nervous system.

RELIABLE EVIDENCE.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—I will most cheerfully add my testimony to the great number you have already received in favor of your great and good medicine, VEGETINE, for I do not think enough can be said in its praise, for I was troubled over thirty years with that dreadful disease Catarrh, and had such bad coughing spells that it would seem as though I could never breath any more, and VEGETINE has cured me; and I do feel to thank God all the time that there is so good a medicine as VEGETINE and I also think it is one of the best medicines for coughs and weak sinking feelings at the stomach, and advise everybody to take the VEGETINE, for I can assure them it is one of the best medicines that ever was. THOUSANDS SPEAK.

VEGETINE is acknowledged and recommended by physicians and apothecaries to be the best purifier and cleanser of the blood yet discovered, and thousands speak in its praise who have been restored to health.

Report from a Practical Chemist and Apothecary.

BOSTON, January 1, 1874.

Dear Sir—This is to certify that I have sold at retail 154 1-3 dozen (1852 bottles) of your Vegetine since April 12, 1870, and can truly say that it has given the best satisfaction of any remedy for the complaints for which it is recommended that I ever sold. Scarcely a day passes without some of my customers testifying to its merits on themselves or their friends. I am perfectly cognizant of several cases of scrofulous Tumors being cured by VEGETINE alone in this vicinity.

Very respectfully yours,
AL GILMAN,
468 Broadway.

To H. R. STEVENS, ESQ.

VEGETINE
Will Cleanse Scrofula from the System.

HONEST OPINION.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—This is to show that my son was taken sick in January, 1864, with Scrofula, which came out in large sores and ulcers on his leg and hip. His leg was swelled more than twice its natural size. He had several doctors of high standing in their profession—two from Boston and three from Charlestown—without getting a bit better. He was obliged to be wherever he was placed, for he had no use of his limbs whatever. When we had given up all hopes of his living we were told to try VEGETINE, the great blood remedy; and he had taken it but a short time before we could see a great change. The sores run so bad that we had to change the cloths four or five times a day. Still, he was getting better; for he could move his limbs and help himself a little. He was soon able to sit up in bed, and, by constant use of VEGETINE, it has cured him. He has a lame leg, which he will probably have for life; but we all honestly believe if we had used VEGETINE before we had bothered with those doctors, it would have saved the use of his leg, and restored it to natural health. I hope all those troubled with scrofula will read this testimony of me and my son, who is now well, and able to speak for himself.

CATHARINE MAHONEY,
DANIEL MAHONEY,
19 Tremont street, Charlestown, Mass.
May 10, 1872.

The above plain but honest statement conclusively shows the quick and thorough cleansing effects of the VEGETINE in Scrofula.

VEGETINE is acknowledged by all classes of people to be the best and most reliable blood purifier in the world.

Vegetine is Sold by all Druggists.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

A Young Man is Crushed to Death by a Moving Train.

Yesterday shortly before 11 o'clock, as the Cleveland Express was leaving Allegheny for the Union Depot, as the train was crossing Federal street, a young man named Richard Kemp attempted to get on board the front platform of the baggage car, when he missed his footing and fell under the wheels which crushed and mangled his body in a horrible manner. His lifeless remains were dragged a distance of about twenty feet before the engine could be stopped and when taken out they were sickening to look upon. The body was taken to the residence of his father, at No. 131 Rebecca street, in the Fifth ward, when the Coroner was notified, who repaired to the spot and empanneled a jury, which rendered a verdict of accidental death. Young Kemp was only eighteen years of age and was a news agent on the Connellsville Railroad. No one was to blame for the accident but the unfortunate victim.
